Gnosis Arts Multimedia Communications Press Release Subscription Services

Want more exposure, features and traffic? Purchase our PR subscription service!

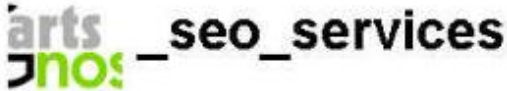

What do you get? Below are details about what's included in the monthly press release subscription.

1. Submission of your press release links to our Twitter feeds

We tweet links to your press releases on our business Twitter feeds.

Our business Twitter accounts have over 5700 followers! So you get boost in extra exposure for your press releases:

As you can see, look at the follower count. We have three main business twitter feeds that we use for marketing purposes. These followers can see your press releases.

2. You get unlimited press release submission to our site, as opposed to just the 1 release per month maximum with the free service.

This is more value because you have more opportunity to take advantage of our website visitor traffic, which grows steadily each year.

3. Your press releases have permanent links

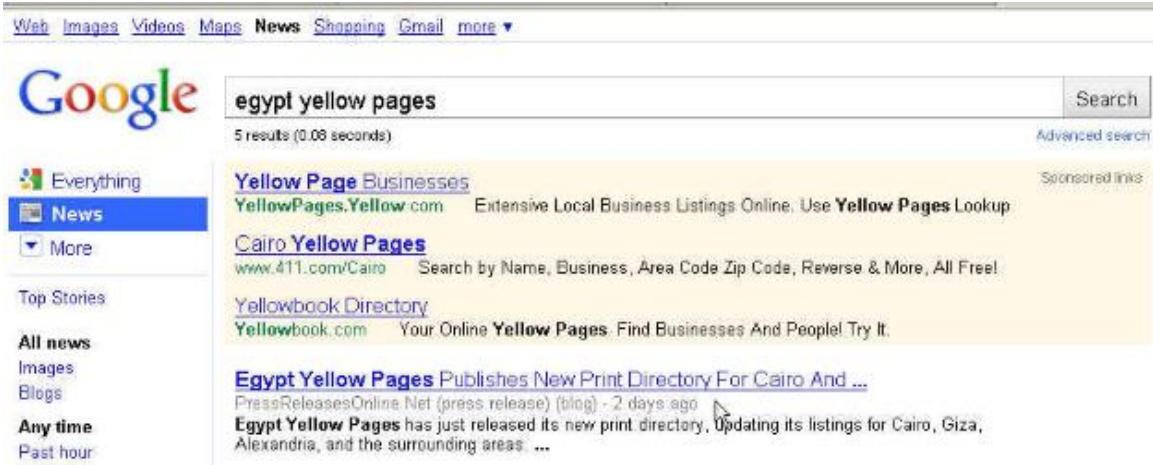

The free submissions are deleted after approximately 45 days. But paid subscription releases are kept for the full duration of your subscription. This benefits you by keeping your press releases at the top of the site listings of submitted releases more often than the others:

4. Perhaps the most valuable part of the service is you get Google News inclusion.

Google News is located in the main search results of Google. If you visit Google.Com and click the “News” link at the top of the page, you will see news stories. These are news stories that are pulled in from all different sources on the Web, and “syndicated” through Google News.

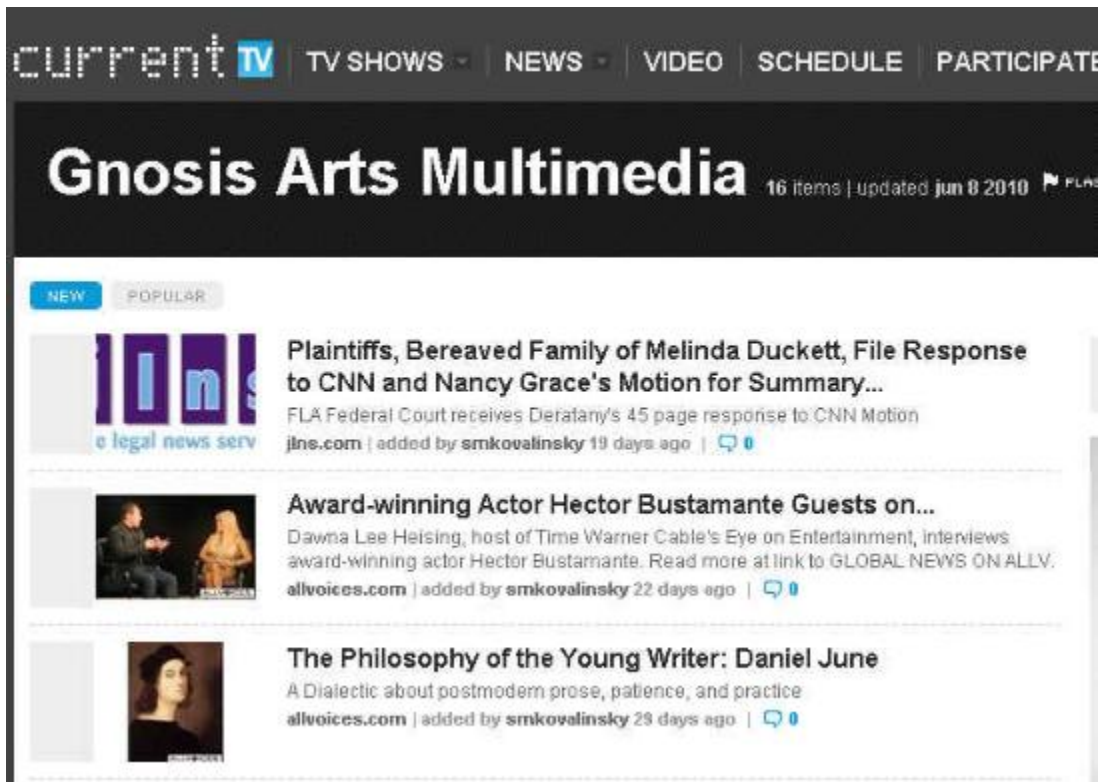

With Google News inclusion, your releases have the chance of being seen by the millions of Google searchers who use Google news every day and being picked up by major news outlets!

Here is an example of a client press release that we submitted to Google News through one of our third-party media providers:

5. Social media inclusion on our CurrentTV news channel, Facebook Fan page, and in our LinkedIn Groups News

Our CurrentTV News channel, which gets hundreds of visits per day.
